DUTY LEAD CHECKLIST · 5 QUESTIONS

Saturday morning checklist for duty leads

Five questions worth answering before 08:00 on a cover day.

1. Who is booked on?
2. Training or checks out of date?
3. Briefing read, or only sent?
4. Where do check-ins land?
5. Can you show who was on?

1 QUESTION 1 OF 5

Who is booked on, and who declined late?

Start from the live board, not last week's spreadsheet export.

ON THE DAY

If the answer lives in a second file, open it now. Do not wait until someone is already on duty.

SIGNAL

A tidy spreadsheet that nobody opened this morning is not a duty board.

BEFORE 08:00

If you cannot answer this from one place, the duty board is still incomplete.

2 QUESTION 2 OF 5

Whose training or checks are out of date?

Currency belongs next to the rota, not in a separate file you open later.

ON THE DAY

If the answer lives in a second file, open it now. Do not wait until someone is already on duty.

SIGNAL

A tidy spreadsheet that nobody opened this morning is not a duty board.

BEFORE 08:00

If you cannot answer this from one place, the duty board is still incomplete.

3 QUESTION 3 OF 5

Has the briefing been read, or only sent?

Sent is not the same as acknowledged.

ON THE DAY

If the answer lives in a second file, open it now. Do not wait until someone is already on duty.

BEFORE 08:00

If you cannot answer this from one place, the duty board is still incomplete.

4 QUESTION 4 OF 5

Where do check-ins land?

Paper at the door is fine until you need a trail on Monday.

ON THE DAY

If the answer lives in a second file, open it now. Do not wait until someone is already on duty.

SIGNAL

A tidy spreadsheet that nobody opened this morning is not a duty board.

BEFORE 08:00

If you cannot answer this from one place, the duty board is still incomplete.

5 QUESTION 5 OF 5

If something goes wrong, can you show who was on?

And what they had been told before the duty started.

ON THE DAY

If the answer lives in a second file, open it now. Do not wait until someone is already on duty.

Useful with or without OpsReady

Most teams keep this careful until the busy week. Then the files drift apart.

01-02
